Provide pupils with opportunities to take on different roles, ensuring they are equipped with the appropriate knowledge and vocabulary to do this successfully.

Support pupils' understanding of turn-taking in talk by using a physical object such as a toy to signify whose turn it is to speak.

Support pupils' understanding of listening through partner conversations. Break down what it means to listen and frequently return to this through praise. E.g. 'Perfect partners sit calmly and face each other when they are listening'.

Support pupils to develop an awareness of the volume of their voice through modelling and chances for them to practice speaking at different levels. E.g. 'tell your partner what you had for breakfast in a whisper ... now, tell me your favourite colour in a playground voice!'

Address misconceptions in pronunciation using 'my turn, your turn.'

Participate in partner talk during whole class teaching Provide pupils with opportunities to speak for an extended period of time about something they are interested in, for example a favourite toy or what they did at the weekend.

Job day
Class Rules

Create and develop rules for effective discussions and evaluate them, with the expectation that everyone takes part.

Introduce pupils to different protocols to scaffold turntaking e.g. taking turns passing talk around a circle.

As a teacher, explicitly model your own use of questions to clarify your understanding, e.g. 'I didn't understand that so I'm going to ask a question to help me. What did you mean by X?'.

Draw pupils' attention to the role that listening has in developing understanding. E.g. 'Now that we have heard that, has anyone changed their mind?'.

Take part in small group discussions and with the class.

Show and Tell

Partner talk during whole class teaching

Create different role play scenarios which enable pupils to practice speaking in different contexts

Play games which encourage pupils to elaborate on their ideas, e.g. 'tell me more' or 'just a minute'.

Use hot-seating to develop pupils' auestioning skills.

Praise pupils who invite others into discussions and as a class develop ideas for how this can be done, e.g. saying their name, asking them a question, turning to them.

Before pupils deliver presentational talk, create structured opportunities for them to reflect on what will engage their audience e.g. how they can make their object for 'show and tell' interesting for their peers.

Speak to unfamiliar people with real purpose e.g. asking questions to a museum curator or having a conversation with a visitor in the classroom. Participate in a short 'show and tell' session.

Participate in discussion about books, poems and other works that are read to them and those that they can read for themselves, taking turns and listening to what others say.

Speak in front of a larger audience e.g. during an assembly.

Expose pupils to a range of models for talk, e.g. by meeting an expert or watching a talk. Unpick why each speaker is successful e.g. how they establish their authority.

Develop a shared language to describe talk in the classroom through creating a class set of 'discussion guidelines'. These can be used as success criteria to support pupils to reflect on their discussions.

Scaffold pupils' summaries by allocating one pupil in a trio discussion the role of the 'silent summariser'. While the other members of the trio discuss an idea, the silent summariser must remain quiet, listen and then feedback the main points at the end of the discussion.

Participate in a short 'show and tell' session

Participate in discussion about books, poems and other works that are read to them and those that they can read for themselves, taking turns and listening to what others say.

Hold class discussions

Perform to parents.

Take part in a Performance Poetry recital Teach the conventions for different types of talk, e.g. in oral storytelling using similes, metaphors, time connectives, rich description and techniques to build suspense. In a persuasive pitch use a 'hook' to grab the audience's attention, rhetorical devices and rhetorical questions.

Create opportunities for pupils to reflect on their own oracy skills, and those of their peers.

Set up discussions where each pupil has key information to bring to the discussion. E.g. each pupil has read a different historical source or piece of evidence and the group needs to decide the cause of the central event.

When using trio discussions, allocate one member of the trio the role of questioner. Their sole responsibility during the trio discussion is to ask questions of the rest of the group.

Take part in a school play and assembly

Take part in a Performance Poetry recital

Peer mentoring

Equip pupils with the language to describe when a discussion has gone off track and support them to identify when this has happened e.g. by looking at transcripts or video examples.

Develop sentence stems for pupils to bring discussions back on track e.g. 'That might be true, however what do you think about X?' 'It feels a bit like we are going off topic here. Let's get back to X'.

Teach strategies to support listening for an extended period of time, e.g. notetaking.

Meet professionals to ask questions about their job. Take part in a presentation to parents

Give a speech to an audience of peers and adults
Mentor or teach younger pupils
